Final Touches Put on Scenes at Versailles Palace When Enemy Receives Allied Demands.

By The Associated Press.

VERSAILLES, Monday, May 5.—When the German delegation enters the dining-room of the hotel Trianon the Wednesday afternoon it will receive the test of the many hours they will spend in the negotiations of the powers and the Allies against Germany awaiting their answer at the great tables which have been placed in the room where Clemenceau, President Wilson and Premier Lloyd George will sit at the head of the table.

The Germans will join the allied delegations at this time but will be confined to a smaller table standing by itself in the open end of the great hall which is formed by the green-covered tables arranged for the meeting. There they will listen to M. Clemenceau's opening address and receive the terms of the allied and associated nations as formulated in the volume of conditions drawn up in the four months of negotiations by the interallied conference.

On M. Clemenceau's right will be President Wilson and the other American delegates while on his left Premier Lloyd George and the British representatives will be grouped. Facing the Americans will come the French delegation with Marshal Foch in the center. Next to these will be the representatives of Italy, Belgium, Brazil, Greece, Portugal and Serbia on the left side and seated below the delegates of Great Britain will be those of the British dominions, Japan, Poland and Czechoslovakia.

Secretaries Are Placed

Two tables have been placed for the general secretaries of the interallied conference directly behind President Wilson and Premier Lloyd George. Secretaries of individual delegations will have seats at the sides of the room behind their respective delegations. The four big cut glass chandeliers which hang from the ceiling of the hall will be scarcely needed at the hour set for the ceremony at 3:30 p.m.

German Delegates First on Scene

Premier Clemenceau was the first of the allied chiefs to visit the scene of the presentation of the peace terms this afternoon. A few minutes after his arrival President Wilson and Premier Lloyd George entered and were introduced by M. Clemenceau to Major Biennais, the officer in charge for the French government who showed them over the rooms assigned for the principal sessions and for subsequent deliberations. All three took a lively interest in the details of the arrangements for the ceremony, suggesting various changes and improvements during the afternoon.

The German delegation in charge of financial affairs walked out from their hotel to meet allied representatives to continue the discussion of matters which were taken up last Friday.

Five American correspondents will attend the session Wednesday and Germany, England, France, Italy and Japan will each have the same number. The remainder of the correspondents will come from the British colonies and minor powers.

CHARGED WITH STEALING AUTO TIRE, IS RELEASED

The case of the state of Oklahoma against Harold Aarsenius, charged with the theft of an automobile tire and tire on April 24, was dismissed following the preliminary hearing Tuesday before Justice H. J. Gray. The court holding that while the defendant might not have been lawless in his conduct, he was not guilty of any intention to deprive the owner of his property.

Wheeler left his automobile at a gas station in charge of James Neilson, a mechanic, with orders to make needed repairs. Aarsenius claims that Neilson, who was in possession of the car, loaned it to the defendant and that while driving the car the extra tire wheel was lost.
